

Need Design or Layout Help?

Which of these describes your situation?

- 1) You have some images and your logo in a high res file, but you need someone to do a layout and create a final digital file to get your graphics printed.*
- 2) You have nothing; no images, no copy; but you generally know what you want and can scribble out a rough layout on a piece of paper.*
- 3) You're having to start from scratch. Perhaps you're a new business and this is the first time you've had to meet the creative challenge of trying to differentiate your business with graphics for the first time.*

In the first two instances the project can be completed with 1-2 hours of workstation time at $45 per hours for banner stands and maybe 2-4 hours for large murals. Yes, most of the time it's that simple and very affordable.

In the third example: you need a designer who can assist in the creative process as well as put it altogether. We can assist you there as well with professional designers who will complete the job @$65 per hour. There again, if you're organized and can provide the designer with good information and prompt feedback, even a large photo mural project can normally be completed for $300-$400. This is an excellent alternative to a design firm who's pricing for comparable services will start from $1,500 to $3,000.
